Test Analyst
Gurgaon, India

provar

We are looking for a test analyst to join our growing QA team in our dynamic Gurgaon office.

Our automated testing tool, Provar, specializes in testing Salesforce, the market-leading cloud CRM platform. Our QA team is responsible for product consulting, customer support, training, testing new features, regression testing and updating online resources.

This is an awesome opportunity for a proactive and problem-solving individual to develop their skills in a fun and stimulating consultancy environment.

The role would suit a computer science graduate with a genuine passion for testing. You don't need prior knowledge of Provar or Salesforce, as we can give you all the training you will need. You should have a proven development track record and a professional, dedicated and flexible approach.

Responsibilities

- Complete assigned tasks on time
- Perform manual regression testing for new Provar releases
- Add automation test scripts for the Provar automated test pack
- Investigate and respond to product issues
- Be innovative in your testing and look for ways to improve the product
- Work as a team and always help your colleagues deliver their workload
- Become a product expert in Provar
- Learn Salesforce and complete the SFDC Admin examinations
- Escalate any issues to your line manager promptly
- Keeping up-to-date with standards and requirements of software quality assurance
- Development and implementation of software functionality tests
- Preparation of reports on defects and problems that arise during software test
- Tracking of reported problems and defects using tracking software
- Preparation of software evaluation test reports

Skills required

You should have a solid academic foundation to degree level or higher. You should also have evidence of the following:

Essential:

- 1-3 years of software testing experience
- Knowledge of Selenium
- Knowledge of at least one programming language
- Working knowledge of agile methodologies
- Good communication skills (speaking, writing and presenting)
- Proactive, organized and collaborative approach
- Strong problem solving skills
- Ability to work in a team environment

Preferable:

- Experience in Salesforce.com testing or testing of another SAAS application
- Knowledge or experience of any other automated technology

What you'll receive

- Competitive salary
- Comprehensive health insurance
- Vibrant culture with regular social activities
- Fun and friendly team
